OpenCms DAYS 2008

2 DAY CONFERENCE AND EXPO

OpenCms Days 2008 takes place from Monday, May 5 to Tuesday, May 6 2008 in Cologne, Germany at the "Sport and Olympia Museum".

For the first time, OpenCms users and developers gather for a 2 day conference and expo. Meet and mingle with OpenCms experts such as core developers, experienced consultants, independent CMS analysts, executive decision makers and other OpenCms users.

OpenCms Days 2008 will feature 2 parallel tracks with Business and Technical sessions:

- Business sessions will focus on OpenCms show-cases, best practices, industry discussions and management decision making insights to OpenCms.

- Technical sessions will be targeted towards developers and provide in-depth, hands-on presentations and workshops about OpenCms technical features.

OpenCms Days 2008 is targeted towards an international audience. The language spoken at the event is English, and all presentations will be held in English language.

OpenCms Days 2008 will feature a lineup of prestigious international speakers from the OpenCms community. The full program and list of speakers will be available March 24, 2008 from the conference website.

Registration price:

Early bird registration (by March 24): .... 175 Euro
Normal registration (after March 24): .... 200 Euro

For more information and online registration, visit the website of the OpenCms Days 2008:

http://www.opencms-days.org

Confirmed speakers so far:

Alexander Kandzior
(Germany)

Leading OpenCms developer and CEO of Alkacon Software.

Matt Butcher
(USA)

OpenCms book author and consultant.

Alejandro Alves
(Spain)

OpenCms consultant and founder of opencmshispano.org.

Pascal Hollenbrock
(Germany)

Project Manager at Bayer Business Services.

Seth Gottlieb
(USA)

Independent CMS consultant and analyst.